Texas Youth Was Resting After Journey From Philadelphia When He Lost Life

R. D. Allen, a senior student at Princeton University, whose home is in Wichita Falls, Kan., was killed early this morning in an automobile accident near the New Jersey university town, on the way home from the Penn-Cornell football game.

A second youth, a Cornell student who was driving Allen's big touring car, was found unconscious near the wreck of the machine and taken to the Princeton Hospital.

The college authorities have not learned his name.

Allen was dead when the machine was found, on the Ridge road, between Ingleton and Monmouth Junction, about four miles from Princeton.

The Cornell student, revived at the Princeton Hospital, said that he had been driving and had put on the brakes when he thought he saw an object in front of the car. The emergency brake locked, the car, a very heavy and expensive one, skidded and overturned.

36TH BARN FIRE SINCE SEPTEMBER STIRS 2 COUNTIES
Structure Owned by Harry Thomas, Near West Chester, Destroyed Early Today
FARMERS-SLEEP ARMED, IN FEAR OF ARSON RING
Detectives and Sheriffs of Chester and Delaware Join in Firebug Hunt

A large barn on the farm of Harry Thomas, of Fraser, near West Chester, was destroyed by a mysterious fire at 2 o'clock this morning, making the thirty-sixth burned since mid-September in Chester and Delaware Counties.

The district attorneys of both counties, the State Fire Marshal's office, the State police and vigilantes have been trying to solve the mystery. The loss so far has been estimated at $210,000.

Many farmers in the fertile regions lying west and southwest of Philadelphia are in nightly fear that their barns will be the next marked for destruction. Most of the owners are sleeping with shotguns close at hand.

All the crops and all the farming implements in the Thomas barn were destroyed. Automobile parties who discovered the fire rescued twelve cows, four horses and two automobiles.

The flames were shooting through the barn roof when motorists pounded on the doors of the Thomas homestead and around the occupants. The fire spread to a chicken house, a garage and a wood house and heavily damaged all three.

Sparks fell on the roof of the farm house and the roof and walls caught fire in several places. Firemen from Berwyn, Paoli and Malvern played streams on the house and saved it.

Von Moltke Quits Ex-Kaiser After Clash With Hermine
Wilhelm's Bride Insists on More Freedom of Action for Her Husband Than Doorn Castle Provides

By Associated Press
Doorn, Holland, Dec. 1.—The first change in the Kaiser's household since Princess Hermine took over the reins of the departure of Count von Moltke, the court marshal.

The new "Empress" has signified her intention of instituting a regime which will be directly opposed to the policies of Von Moltke.

The dispute between Princess Hermine and the retiring marshal is said to have arisen over the question of whether the Kaiser should confine himself to Doorn Castle. The former Emperor's bride favored more freedom of movement for her husband, but this was contrary to the wishes of Von Moltke, who is regarded as responsible for the virtual imprisonment of Wilhelm within the garden walls.

Princess Hermine and her youngest daughter take daily walks outside the castle grounds and she has appeared several times in the town of Doorn. The Kaiser has been frequently seen with her in parts of the ground, and it is expected that she will soon prevail upon him to accompany her on trips to the village.

Another change in the household regime that is probably traceable to Princess Hermine's influence is the prospective departure of Dr. Haechner, the court physician, who soon leaves the castle to take up his private practice in Amsterdam.

The new mistress of Doorn Castle chats freely with all sorts of people during her daily walks and is evidently desirous of making friends. She has a very pleasant manner on these occasions, visiting with any one who shows much interest in her new surroundings.

JOHN WANAMAKER IS GRAVELY ILL
Physicians Admit Loss of Vitality by Merchant Despite Comfortable Night
COLD PROVING SERIOUS

John Wanamaker is gravely ill at his home, 2032 Walnut street. Though his physicians do not pronounce his condition hopeless, they do not minimize its seriousness.

With the continued loss of strength and vitality, Mr. Wanamaker passed a comfortable night. He was seized yesterday with a fit of coughing, which the physicians found it difficult to control, and coughed incessantly during the day. This greatly exhausted his strength.

Last night's bulletin showed the first trace of real anxiety on the part of physicians.

Though resting comfortably, Mr. Wanamaker has today passed through an exhausting series of attacks of coughing, and as a result his condition assumed a grave aspect.

Mr. Wanamaker's illness began two months ago. He was then at Lyndhurst, his country estate, but was brought to Philadelphia for medical attention. Though his malady merely was a long duration, and his advanced age made it serious.

John Suedel, who was twenty-one years old, and lived at 2448 North Delphi street, was walking along Bethlehem Pike yesterday afternoon when he was shot in the side by a bullet fired from a gun.

WOMAN'S SCREAMS IGNORED BY MEN LOOTING HER SHOP
Four Auto Bandits Smash Window of Germantown Avenue Store, Escape With Furs
HOLD-UP BAND BEATS VICTIM UNCONSCIOUS
Picked Up in Race Street, He Cannot Talk or Give Clue to Assaultants

Four automobile bandits smashed two plate-glass windows and snatched $700 worth of furs from a shop at 2933 Germantown avenue at 1:30 o'clock this morning as the owner of the store, Mrs. Anna Lutherman, was rushing to the street shouting for help.

Mrs. Lutherman was at the rear of the store with several friends, when she heard the windows shattered. "I ran out and saw three men climbing into the windows," she told the police, "and I shouted to them to stop."

They paid no attention to me, however. One of them who stood back of the others on the sidewalk seemed to be the leader, and I heard him give orders to "Get it all! Don't stop!"

It was all done as quick as a flash. They grabbed the fur window display and leaped to their car, I reached the sidewalk just as the car darted away. But I was able to get the number of the license. The machine was a latest touring car.

The bandits were all young men, one of them, who acted as the leader. Continued on Page Eight, Column One

THIRD-PARTY INTENTIONS DISAVOWED AT MEETING
Moderation Keynote of La Follette Conference—No Binding Legislative Program
NORRIS CHOSEN CHAIRMAN
Plan to Outbid Harding in Helping Farmers Through Railroad Laws

By CLINTON W. GILBERT
Staff Correspondent Evening Public Ledger
Washington, Dec. 1.—Moderation was the keynote of the progressive conference, which was held in the Agricultural Committee room of the Senate office building today. No hard-and-fast organization and no definite program was adopted.

Senator La Follette, in his remarks to the members of Congress and members-elect who assembled, disavowed all third-party intentions. The meeting, he declared, was for the purpose of agreeing, if possible, upon a legislative program. It was not to be binding upon any who attended, every one being left free to follow his own individual judgment when the program was presented on the floor of the two houses.

Senator Norris, who was chosen chairman of the conference, spoke to the same effect.

No attempt was made to frame legislation today, but committees were appointed on shipping transportation and rural credits. These committees will report to subsequent meetings of the conference.

Resolutions Adopted
The conference adopted the following resolutions:
"Resolved, that the progressive moderate reformers and Representatives of all parties agree to meet from time to time and co-operate wholeheartedly in order to accomplish the fundamental purpose upon which we are all united, namely:
To drive special privilege out of control of government and restore it to the people.
To this end we will oppose unceasingly special interest legislation, and in order to prevent the passage of a nation-wide campaign in the future, to prepare and submit to this group for consideration from time to time during this and the next Congress practical and constructive plans for doing this, including the following subjects: Agriculture, labor, railroads, shipping, natural resources, credits, taxation, amendments to the Constitution looking to the abolition of the closed doors, and the earlier meeting of newly elected Congresses.
"In order to restore and perpetuate the control of the people over their Government, we propose the institution of a national convention, in which all States for direct, open primaries for all elective offices, including the presidency, and for effective Federal and State corrupt practices acts."

Moderate Elements Present
The presence of Senators Capper, Borah and McNary at the conference indicated that the moderate and the more moderate elements of the progressive group and gave assurance that the purposes of those who met were practical and that no very radical program would be the outcome of the conference. Senator Borah maintained his habitual detachment. He arrived at the conference late looking not very enthusiastic. He spent a few minutes behind the closed doors, during which he declared that he was with the movement if it contemplated a legislative program, but not if it had in view the selection of political candidates.
